Dalia Marin, Thierry Verdier : The Organization of Firms in a Global Economy before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Organization of Firms in a Global Economy:

Presents a new research program that is transforming the study of international trade. Until a few years ago, models of international trade did not recognize the heterogeneity of firms and exporters, and could not provide good explanations of international production networks. Now such models exist and are explored in this volume.

This outstanding volume will become essential reading for graduate-level courses in international trade. (Stephen Redding, London School of Economics) This is no ordinary conference volume. It is an integral part of new and important developments in research that is presently transforming the field of international trade. (Harry Flam, Stockholm University) About the Author Elhanan Helpman is Galen L. Stone Professor of International Trade at Harvard University and the author of many research articles and books. Dalia Marin is Professor of Economics at the University of Munich. Thierry Verdier is Scientific Director, Paris School of Economics, and Professor of Economics, University of Southampton.
