By ccmcewen
Though sometimes an overwhelming read, this volume contains so much helpful scholarship information, I believe every college bound student should have a copy of it.

After reading, I really question the other reviews. It's not bad, but definitely not what I expected. I expected information on specific scholarships and more information on how to find them. I was also expecting the 'Shortcuts, Tricks, and Tips on "How to go to College for next to Nothing. None of those things are emphasized in this book. And...there are several errors and typos.

Debbie Lipphardt's passion and irrepressible enthusiasm for educating students and assisting them in their educational pursuits has led to the creation of this resource for parents and students. Mrs. Lipphardt has a wealth of knowledge about scholarships that has assisted students in receiving millions of dollars in financial aid. She has a knack for utilizing resources and simplifying what can be an overwhelming and complex process. The information in this book is practical and applicable to every family planning for a postsecondary education.

Now in a revised second edition, The Scholarship : Financial Aid Solution lives up to its title as a practical guide to identifying and properly applying for different types of scholarships. Chapters cover how to search for scholarship applications, guidelines for filling out applications or writing essays, preparing for interviews, avoiding scholarship scams, and more. Some (scammers) will offer a free workshop. The workshop is free, but the meeting they setup afterward will not be. Parents and students ask for my advice about whether or not they should go. I tell them what I have just told you, and to attend if they want to but never pay money for anything... These scam companies always seem to rent a room at reputable places, which makes them seem trustworthy. An excellent reference and resource for anyone confronting rising college and tuition costs, highly recommended. --The Money/Finance Shelf - Midwest Book About the Author
I have given countless lectures and workshops, three to four weekly private meetings with parents and students, and have been interviewed on several local radio stations concerning scholarships. I have also received several awards for my work with scholarships as well. I received the County School Employee of the Year in 2000 and 2004, the first person to ever receive this honor twice and Vanguard High School's Employee of the Year twice. I have been honored by being the District Teacher of the Year for the VFW in 2000, 2004, the post winner for 2007, and currently selected as the District winner for 2008, and was a Semi-Finalist for the Junior League's Three Who Care Award in 2007. I am also in Who's Who Among America's Teachers (multiple times), Cambridge Who's Who Among Professional and Executive Women-2007/2008 (Honors Edition) Emerald's Who's Who for Executives and Professionals-2007, Biltmore Who's Who of Professional and Executive Women-2007, Princeton Premier Business Leaders and Professionals-2007, and Madison Who's Who Among Executives and Professionals-2007/2008. I have always loved writing and telling stories to my children so I thought that my first attempt at a novel would be fairly tales. Instead, one day I sat down and started to write about scholarships, a subject that I love working with and have researched and implemented with accomplishment, a total hands on approach to winning scholarships. After being asked by a multitude of other schools counselors and personnel on how my students have been so accomplished at obtaining scholarships, I decided to share this secret of achievement by writing it down and putting it into a book. I believe that with my hands on approach, that this book will be able to assist a multitude of students and parents in finding, applying, and winning scholarships to make college more than just a dream."
