G. Strange : Towards a New Political Economy of Development: States and Regions in the Post-Neoliberal World (International Political Economy Series) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Towards a New Political Economy of Development: States and Regions in the Post-

Neoliberal World (International Political Economy Series):

The author examines new development strategies in the context of globalisation and the crisis of the Washington Consensus. Critiquing both protectionism and the free market he points to the influence and evolution of Keynesian ideas for the management and stabilisation of development in an era marked by the unravelling of neoliberal prosperity.

'Critical, wide ranging and incisive, this is one of the best introductions to development and the evolving global political and economic order currently available.' Mark Beeson, Murdoch University, Australia
About the Author Gerard (Gerry) Strange is Reader in International Political Economy at the University of Lincoln, UK, and Adjunct Professor at the University of Western Australia. He is winner of the British Journal of Politics and International Relations Best Article Award 2013 for 'Understanding the Fundamentals of Capital, the Crisis and the Alternatives: Marx's Legacy Beyond Revolutionary Marxism'.
